

Nicolò Ugolini

Composer for media | Bass player

About me

Musician and composer from Turin, my journey combines an academic background in Philosophy with an eclectic musical experience. This combination has equipped me with cross-disciplinary skills, from analytical thinking to the ability to manage complex projects. My musical background is distinguished by its versatility, encompassing experiences both on stage and in the studio. As a bassist, I have collaborated with bands of various genres, and I currently perform with the Divina Band, with dozens of concerts to my credit, and ZioPol, aka Paolo Serazzi, musician and composer for the Italian TV show La Melevisione. I have honed my skills in music composition and production through specialized courses and collaborations in recording studios, benefiting from the guidance of professionals such as Martino Vacca and Leonardo Corradazzi. These experiences have shaped my professional approach to music, characterized by meticulous attention to detail, punctuality, and artistic flexibility. My ability to work under pressure and interact effectively with diverse teams and professionals has been consolidated through these experiences. The cross-disciplinary approach I have developed, which blends precision, creativity, and technical skills in all aspects of creating a musical product, allows me to navigate seamlessly between live performances, studio work, and composition.

My Goals

My goal is to develop a multifaceted career in the field of music composition and production, working for media (films, video games, and TV), musical projects and live performances. I aim to collaborate with various types of artists to shape their ideas and creative visions. At the same time, I intend to establish myself as a professional musician, exploring a wide range of artistic projects and forming collaborations with local artists.
